CLERK SEEKS OFFICERS

New Precinct Applicants Needed For Gen. Election

QUALIFICATIONS
MAY BE SUBMITTED
SEPTEMBER 3-10

Although the list of precinct officers was but recently completed and appointments made for the primary election to be held tomorrow, announcement is made by W. H. Augustus, county clerk, that a new list will soon have to be compiled for the general election to be held November 5.

It was further stated by Augustus that although many still seem to think it unnecessary to submit applications in order to be appointed, yet since there have been many who have moved or left for vacation trips, or unable to serve on account of illness and have returned their recent appointments, it should be quite obvious to all that new lists are necessary.

New applications for the November 5 election will be accepted between September 3 and 10 by the Clerk and considered in the order received.

Formal applications are not required—just a letter written only on one side of a single sheet of paper will do—but the applicant must state whether or not they have previously served as election officer and in what position (inspector, judge or clerk) and must plainly sign the application in own handwriting with own given name for verification with their registration, according to the clerk.

"To avoid trouble and embarrassment those with poor eyesight or defective hearing must not submit applications.

"Young unemployed persons with clerical experience will be given preference, even though they may have never served as election officers," Augustus concluded.

As more than 1500 persons are required to complete the lists for the entire county, in time for publication as required by law, County Clerk Augustus urges only qualified electors who feel sure they will be able to serve November 5 to submit applications between September 3 and 10.

EDITORIAL

Editors of the Daly City Record have made a careful study of qualifications and platforms of candidates whose names will appear on the ballot tomorrow for supervisorial posts in San Mateo county.

As a conclusion, after fair and thorough consideration of all candidates, this newspaper recommends for supervisors:

DANIEL A. DOLAN

First District

LOUIS C. CHRISTENSEN

Third District

Dr. CLEMENT A. SHIELDS

Fourth District

(Provisions of the county charter allow all San Mateo county citizens to cast a vote for a supervisorial candidate from each district. You can vote for all three of these men: Dolan, Christensen and Shields.)

Fred Peterson Recommends Three Candidates

Outlines Qualifications Of Dolan, Shields,
And Christensen

When asked his opinion regarding the supervisorial election, County Executive Frederick Peterson today gave The Record this statement:

"During the past week I have received hundreds of calls regarding my attitude in the supervisorial election tomorrow. I do not feel it incumbent upon me as county executive to tell anyone how to vote, but in view of these requests, I do feel it my duty as a citizen to make my position clear.

"Because of the attitude and acts of the present board of supervisors during the past two years, I cannot support their reelection.

"Every effort I have made to improve conditions in county government, and every effort I have made to prevent extravagant use of the people's money has been blocked by the present supervisors.

"Candidates Daniel A. Dolan, Louis C. Christensen, and Dr. Clement A. Shields have pledged themselves to work for better county government and to cut down unnecessary expenditures of taxpayers money.

"Therefore, when you go to the polls tomorrow, it is my most sincere recommendation that you cast your ballot for DOLAN, CHRISTENSEN, and SHIELDS."

ELECTION TOMORROW EXPECTED TO DRAW NEW HIGH IN VOTERS

Registered Citizens Number
60,926 --- More Than 1,000

NORTH END OF COUNTY HAS LARGE DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY, DISTRICT COUNT SHOWS

Tomorrow's primary election is expected to draw an unprecedented number of San Mateo county citizens to the polls.

The county's new all-time high number of registered voters is 60,926, almost 1000 more than even liberal estimates had predicted, according to County Clerk William H. Augustus.

While both the major parties showed strong increases, the proportion in favor of the Democrats remained about the same, Augustus said. There were 32,581 Democrats to 26,120 Republicans, he revealed.

Total registration for the May 7 presidential primary was 58,375, of which 25,089 were Republicans and 31,090 Democrats. The Democratic majority has risen from 6001 to 6461.

A year ago the registration was only 56,603, with the Democrats holding a scant margin of 1486 over the GOP forces.

Other party registrations were: Progressive, 120; Townsendites, 69; Prohibitionists, 9; Communists, 5; non-partisan, 2022.

DISTRICT DIVISIONS

By districts the voters are divided as follows:

First—Democrats, 10,562; Republicans, 4320; Prohibitionists, 29; Townsendites, 14; Non-partisan, 529; total, 15,454.

Second—Democrats, 7399; Republicans, 8086; Progressives, 33; Prohibitionists, 5; Townsendites, 3; Non-partisan, 588; total, 16,114.

Third—Democrats, 8712; Republicans, 6754; Progressives, 40; Communists, 2; Townsendites, 46; Non-partisan, 508; total, 16,062.

Fourth—Democrats, 1106; Republicans, 873; Progressives, 2; Communists, 1; Townsendites, 2; Non-partisan, 31; total, 2015.

Fifth—Democrats, 4802; Republicans, 6087; Progressives, 16; Prohibitionists, 4; Communists, 2; Townsendites, 4; Non-partisan, 366, total, 11,287.

PARTY STRONGHOLDS

Once again San Mateo, Burlingame and Hillsborough were the Republican strongholds. Atherton, Woodside, Millbrae, Burlingame Hills and Pescadero were other communities showing margins in favor of GOP.

All other communities showed Bourbon majorities. Redwood City showed a Democratic majority of more than 900 in a total registration of 6641. The complete list, by terms:

Daly City—Democrat, 3388; Republican, 1295.

Colma—Democrat, 302; Republican, 258.

Bayshore City—Democrat, 379; Republican, 100.

Brisbane—Democrat, 869; Republican, 143.

In The Supervisorial Race

Dan Dolan Outlines Platform

Your supervisor shall be responsible to the people for the efficient administration of the affairs of your county, insofar as his jurisdiction over matters prescribed by law are concerned. No supervisor can evade such a mandate; and it is of the utmost importance that he shall establish and use practicable and effective means of exercising that executive control and supervision of the administrative program which he is directed by law to do.

I think of supervision and executive control as one of four constituents of public management, and wholly dependent upon the other three. These four principles—for their importance seems to justify such designation—may be stated as follows: (1) Knowledge of the program; (2) division of the program into working units, forming the basis of organization; (3) division of the program into time units, forming the basis of expenditure control; and (4) supervision.

To accomplish this program we must use money, men machinery, materials and methods—all of which are common to the everyday activities of organized human enterprise. Supervision seems to consist therefore of making sure that these essentials are provided in appropriate amount, number and quality, and that they be used in achieving a predetermined goal.

The are called: (1) Budgetary practice; (2) personnel administration; (3) purchasing; (4) practical standards of field and office, and (5) performance reports.

No more important obligation rests upon the supervisor than to recognize the integrity of the budget.

I feel that the supervisor should (1) lay down broad administrative policies for the guidance of the whole service; (2) establish fair but definite standards for all employees; (3) standardize technical procedure and routine; and then (4) be alert to detect inefficiency and unsatisfactory performance of work, taking such action as will effect timely and proper correction and prevent a recurrence.

In asking your consideration of my candidacy for the office of supervisor, I make one, and only one, promise to the voters, and that is a BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION. If you believe I can serve you as the administrator of your business, then I seek your support now and on next Tuesday, August 27, 1940.

(Signed) DANIEL A. DOLAN.

Hatch Supporters Organize Clubs

Supporters of Alvin S. Hatch, incumbent candidate for re-election to the office of Supervisor from the 4th district of San Mateo county today announced that a "Hatch for Supervisor" clubs had been formed in practically every city and town in the entire county.

"I greatly appreciate the response of my friends throughout the county," said Hatch, "and I assure the voters that if they choose to return me to this post I will continue to devote practically all of my time and energy for the good of San Mateo county."

While Hatch has been a county official for only four years, he has accomplished outstanding work, especially in the line of state highway appropriations and the development of coastsides beaches for use of the citizens of the county as free recreation centers.

He has made many trips to Sacramento on behalf of every worthwhile highway project throughout the county.

SHIELDS RAPS HIGH COST

"I believe that the rising cost of San Mateo county's government SHOULD and CAN be stopped without impairing efficiency," emphasized Dr. C. A. Shields, candidate for supervisor, fourth district, in a final interview today.

Dr. Shields, who is honestly described as "the Coastside's choice for fourth district supervisor," has been the recipient of an ever-increasing number of endorsements. Most recent were those by the Greek American Non-Partisan League of San Mateo county and the Italian American Club of South San Francisco.

Dr. Shields

For 18 years Dr. Shields has been a popular resident and dentist in Half Moon Bay. He has taken a sincere interest in community progress. He inaugurated the first Coastside Chamber of Commerce; he has been chairman of the board of trustees of Half Moon Bay high school for the past 10 years.

Fraternal offices, too, have been conscientiously filled by Dr. Shields. He is past president of Redwood Parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West and past commander of the Half Moon Bay Post, American Legion.

Dr. Shields, who is married and has two children, well knows the importance of efficient, honest government to the every-day life of the county's citizens.

Community Welfare Assn. Makes Endorsements

Members of the Community Welfare association met last week at a special session to endorse candidates in the primary election campaign.

The following candidates were chosen by the group:

Supervisor, first district, Daniel A. Dolan.

Supervisor, third district, Louis G. Christensen.

Supervisor, fourth district, Dr. Clement A. Shields.

County Central committee, Peter J. Kelley.

County Central committee, North End, Democratic ballot, Frank Garibaldi.

Supporters Of Dolan Describe His Abilities

When interviewed today supporters of Daniel A. Dolan, candidate for supervisor, first district, gave these reasons why he should be elected:

Because he is trained with a skill, and understanding of the business to be conducted and how to shape its destiny and direct it successfully for the taxpayers.

He is mentally alert, possessed with a vision to serve, obsessed with a purpose, and stirred with a desire to make our county government the very best at the least cost.

He is able to face a problem, think it through, search and analyze the condition, find the correct solution, and is able to apply the necessary remedy to clear the obstacles involved.

He will visualize and clarify for the people, and in practical form reveal to them our county government as a whole, its scope including the greatest good to the greatest number.

He will be able to consider every subject matter which comes before him as a practical business man; and his one idea will be to secure a definite financial advantage for the citizens. Every problem will be carefully thought out with that end in view.

A vote for Dolan means a business administration.

Hickey Lauded By Friends

Friends of Thomas "Tom" Hickey, backing his candidacy for San Mateo County Supervisor, issued a statement yesterday reciting a list of his achievements during his sixteen years on the board.

Hickey was credited with being responsible, in large degree, for the construction of San Mateo Community Hospital on the "pay as you go" plan, and for other projects financed similarly, with a total saving to the county of a half million dollars in bond indebtedness.

The South San Francisco civic leader was also termed "father" of the San Mateo Memorial Park at Pescadero, and a principal advocate of the Bayshore Highway and the South San Francisco double underpass on that highway.

Keynoting his campaign on cooperation with other members of the board, Hickey seeks, in tomorrow's election the post left vacant by the resignation of the board chairman.

A modern Zeppelin requires 8,830,000 cubic feet of helium.

Committee Reports Swing To MacArthur

With the time remaining to start balloting at tomorrow's primary, now counted in hours, a definite swing towards the election of Ralph C. MacArthur for Supervisor was reported today by the Citizens' Committee sponsoring his candidacy.

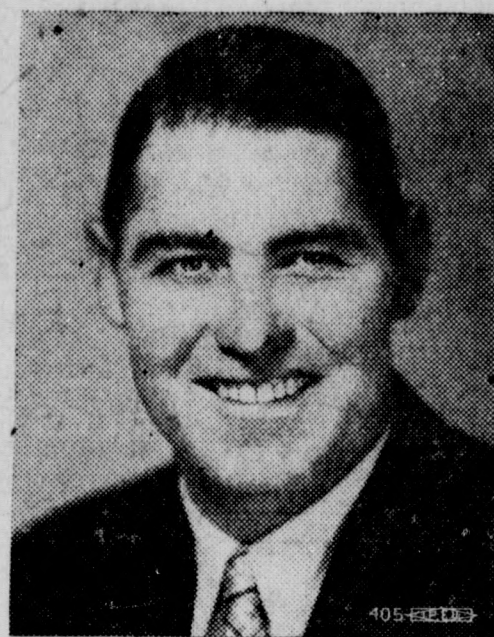

This definite swing was based on a check-up of San Mateo county, taking into consideration the unqualified and one hundred per cent indorsement by the Federation of Italian-American Clubs of San Mateo county, the Lafayette Club of San Mateo county, and a number of fraternal and civic organizations.

Giving further indication of the regard with which candidate MacArthur is held is the fact that a series of enthusiastic "MacArthur for Supervisor Clubs" sprang into being in all parts of the county.

Among MacArthur's qualifications, it is pointed out by his backers, are years of banking experience, real estate, contracting, and other important managerial and executive posts. MacArthur has been a resident and property owner in this county for more than thirty years.

Poole Support Gains Momentum

Support for John W. Poole of Redwood City in his campaign for re-election to the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors was rapidly gaining momentum to-day in all parts of the county.

Friends of the veteran supervisor pointed out that their campaign is showing definite results and that Poole's already large following is certain to be augmented by more than a sufficient majority to return him to the office in the August 27 election.

Poole, they pointed out, has shown a progressive attitude in all county affairs, looking not only at the current needs but also taking into consideration improvements that will benefit the county in years to come.

"Honest John" Poole has been one of the leaders in securing for the county recognition as a progressive area and a most desirable place to live.

Since his appointment March 21, 1927, to fill an unexpired term, Poole has been elected three times to the county's governing body. Never once during his 13 years of service has his integrity been doubted, it was pointed out. Poole is a retired Redwood City drayage company operator.

Small Home With Two Bedrooms

Truly a small home for the average size married family who have a limited budget and yet need two or more bedrooms.

There are thousands of families who want only a few rooms in their homes, that is no good reason why their home should not be each under its own roof. The two-bedroom house is becoming more popular every year. The feeling of being cramped in a small house is avoided by having the few rooms of ample size, especially, as in this case, the bedrooms.

In designing this house consulting architect E. A. Martini, of the Ladies' Home Journal, had in mind a family who was planning on having two or more children. Anticipating a possible future desire to enlarge the house, the architect has shown a satisfactory way to include another bedroom and a sun room. The floor plan has several features that are desirable. A doorway connects the garage with a landing down two steps from the hall between the front vestibule and living room. The living quarters face the rear garden, and are shielded from the street by kitchen and garage. This is a big little house.

Materials that have the Hall Mark of Quality are specified in this house. They include copper for flashings, gutters and downspouts; brass pipe or copper tube for all water lines; solid brass hardware; copper for insulating and bronze windows. Copper shields are also recommended as a protection against termites, an insect that causes a loss to homeowners of $50,000,000 annually.

According to the architect this house can be built for approximately $7,000 in most sections of the country. If you acquire a lot suitable for the house, financing can be arranged on the modern basis—very little down and $35 a month to defray interest and amortization over a period of twenty years.

Complete building plans and specifications are available for this house for $1.00. Included with the plans is a cardboard cut-out model of the house, architecturally drawn to scale. The model can be colored, and it will visualize for you exactly what the completed house will look like. Address your requests for plans and models to the editor of this paper or LHJ House Pattern Number 322.

Statements By Badger

Assembly Candidate

Meetings Throughout The County

Badger stated that during his term of office, he will observe both the letter and the spirit of the Constitution with regard to the holding of public discussion on proposed legislation. He pointed out that during the month of February of each legislative year there is a "constitutional recess." After this recess no bills may be introduced except in very extraordinary cases. "The purpose of this recess," said Badger, "was to enable senators and assemblymen to consult with their constituents for the purpose of learning their views on public matters." Badger claims that this period should be used in holding public meetings throughout the county. He promises to leave Sacramento during this recess and to hold public hearings, at which hearings or meetings all persons will be invited to appear and voice their views either for or against the bills then pending.

Bayshore Traffic Problem

"Bayshore Highway in this county has the highest mortality rate in the State of California, if not in the United States. More deaths occur on this road from traffic accidents than on all highways in the State of Nevada, for example. This situation presents a problem which is a bit technical and not too easily understood. If, however, we consult with trustworthy experts, we can well afford to take their advice and write it into a law. A State Committee is already investigating some of the phases of this problem. More can be said when the report of this committee is made public. Meanwhile, let us remember that the handling of this matter is the saving of human lives."

Forests, Parks, And Beaches

San Mateo county is blessed with acres of beautiful land, suitable for State Parks, State Beaches, and State Forests. A great many public-spirited citizens, desirous of saving this land in its natural condition, have urged the formation of County Parks, County Beaches, and County Forests. Badger asserts, however, that this would be too much of a burden on San Mateo county taxpayers. He believes that much of this land should be purchased by the State of California out of its revolving fund for Parks, Beaches, and Forests.

"After all," says Badger, "it is the entire State which is to benefit by these parks. The mere fact that they happen to be in our county is no reason for placing an extra burden upon our taxpayers."

Shoots Deadly Colorado Rapids At Night In Frail Canvas Canoe

Charles F. Mann, young Pennsylvania taxidermist, and 14-foot kayak in which he covered 1200 miles of Colorado River in less than month.

A 1200 mile trip down the deadly Colorado River in a small canvas canoe, the first trip of its kind to result other than fatally, all but ended in death for Charles F. Mann, of York, Pa.

Mann paddled into Lee's Ferry, Arizona, cut and bruised from 29 days of battling with the "roughest water in America". At Green River, Wyoming, where he started, veteran river men warned him he would never come through alive. Only one of those who tried it before him survived, and this one used a 400-pound cedar boat. Mann's craft, a kayak, weighed 35 pounds.

"In the scores of rapids throughout the river the velocity of the water was from 15 to 30 miles an hour," he said. In these rapids were hundreds of "drop overs", or falls, from five to fifteen feet high. In some places the river was only 50 feet wide, and the granite walls rose straight up from the water 2000 feet. Often there was no rim of rock or bit of shore to camp on, so that long before dark I always started looking for a place to tie up for the night.

"Late one afternoon I began looking for a 'tie-up', but there wasn't any. The walls were sheer rock for mile after mile. The water was fast and rough, and soon it grew so dark I could hardly see.

"Suddenly up ahead I heard the water roaring. That meant that I was close to rapids again. If I got into them now, in the darkness, I would be sure to crack up and probably would be killed among the rocks.

"The water was racing at a good 30 miles an hour. I was about ready to give up when I remembered a flashlight I had along. The batteries were fresh and gave a good strong light. I clinched it between my knees and held it there like a headlight, with both hands free to work the canoe. I just had time to grab the paddle again before I hit the rapids.

"The rocks kicked up waves 10 to 15 feet high, and a half dozen times the boat almost turned over. Once I shot over a falls and dropped about 12 feet. But the canoe righted and we raced along. Thanks to the light, we missed the big rocks, and finally got down to smooth water again. Playing the light along the shore, I spotted a strip of rock to camp on. I was so worn out I could go no further."

Mann emerged from his long trip covered with cuts and bruises, and his canoe had to be patched in twenty-two places. He says he wants to make the trip again.

Amber Hunting

One of the oldest attractions of the Baltic is still an attraction—namely, picking up amber on the coast of Lithuania, the "land of northern gold," known to early Greeks and Romans.

Large Hull Launched

The first large hull in 60 years was launched at Nova Scotia when a 45-foot dredge slid down the ways of a Pictou marine railway. The hull was built for the department of public works.

Cottonmouth Moccasin

The cottonmouth moccasin is a dangerously poisonous snake generally of dark chestnut-brown with some darker barring and with yellowish-white stripes on the head and throat. The common name of this snake refers to the white lining of the mouth, which it is said to display before biting. Cottonmouths may attain a length of four feet. They are not aggressive and most cases of snake bite in which they are involved are due to the reptiles being stepped on.

THE INCUMBENTS

Harrison Call

Harrison W. Call, twice elected to the State Assembly, seeks re-election at the primaries tomorrow when his name appears on both Republican and Democratic tickets.

Not only in the two terms of his assembly career but in San Mateo County public life, Call has demonstrated his courage and capacity for action. He brings to the office an instinctive legislative ability that has been particularly demonstrated in activities during the recent sessions.

There he took the lead in forming and inspiring the so-called "economy bloc" which halted the proposed rash campaign of expenditures proposed by the governor. His opposition was intense and active and was largely responsible for the success of the economy bloc in the assembly where the Olson forces were strongest.

Call took a leading part later in the special investigation of state relief and gave further evidence of his initiative and ability in his handling of the famous dictaphone investigation.

Certainly with his ability and his experience of two terms in the assembly he is the logical man to be elected next Tuesday.

(Signed) Committee For Re-Election of Harrison Call.

Chameleon's Colors

The chameleon does not arbitrarily imitate the hue of the object on which it rests, nor is the process wholly under its control. The changes are reactions to certain conditions of light and temperature and to various emotional states, such as fear and anger. The physical cause may be traced to two differently colored layers of pigment under control of the nervous system. The best known species is ordinarily a greenish-gray, from which it changes to emerald green or to dull black, sometimes showing reddish or yellowish spots.

Italy is the native country of 214 of the 261 popes.

Harry Parkman

State Senator Harry L. Parkman today is winding up his campaign for re-election, and said reports from throughout San Mateo county are very encouraging. Four years ago, according to county records, when Senator Parkman sought re-election he received the greatest vote ever polled in the county.

In closing his campaign Senator Parkman pointed out his friends and supporters had engaged in a high type drive, and would continue to do so until it closed. "People today," Senator Parkman said, "are not kindly disposed toward personalities in a political campaign. They are not fooled by the creating of false issues at the last minute, but decide intelligently and solely upon merit just who they want to represent them."

Stressing once more the need of proper co-ordination by state government in the national defense, Senator Parkman pointed out one of the most important issues before ensuing legislative sessions will be that of national defense. He explained California will play an important part in the program, and must have men in its government who are national defense minded, and ready to co-operate efficiently with the federal program.

"In addition," Senator Parkman said, "the national defense program promises to aid California's industrial and economic recovery. It should provide employment for many now on relief, and should bring a marked reduction in our relief costs to ease the burden of our citizens in the load they must carry for national defense."

Friends of Senator Parkman said today every effort is being made to re-elect him at the primary tomorrow, and indications are this will be accomplished by a substantial majority.

(Signed) Committee To Re-elect Senator Parkman.

McGrath's Friends Urge His Return

Today we have a man asking us to return him to Congress. That man is John J. McGrath who represented this District at Washington from 1932 to 1938.

Mr. McGrath was the most efficient and capable man who ever represented us and got more permanent benefits for San Mateo county and the other counties of the 8th Congressional Districts than all our representatives from this district in over 50 years.

Before John McGrath went to Congress in 1932 he was Judge in San Mateo for six years, and his fairness on the bench endeared him even to his enemies.

John McGrath organized the Three Cities Chamber of Commerce of San Mateo, Burlingame, and Hillsborough and was largely responsible for the construction of the San Mateo trans-bay bridge, the Dumbarton Bridge, The San Mateo Junior College, The Burlingame High School and the Half Moon Bay Road "San Joaquin to the Sea."

Numerous other worthy developments were fathered by John McGrath before he went to Congress, and after he went to Congress his record of achievements is truly unbelievable.

He supported the Redwood City Harbor to its completion, The Sunnyvale Air Base, the San Jose Port, The Santa Clara Valley water conservation project; new post office buildings in South San Francisco, San Mateo, Redwood City, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Watsonville, Hollister, Salinas, Pacific Grove and the Monterey County Court House at Salinas.

John McGrath introduced the bill for the purchase of Hunters Point Dry Docks by the navy department for the construction of heavy cruisers and battleships.

He also introduced a bill for the building of another fleet to be housed in the Atlantic. He introduced and fathered bills for the flood control of the San Lorenzo river at Santa Cruz, The Pajaro River at Watsonville and the Salinas river at Moss Landing.

John McGrath was a member of the Naval Affairs Committee, and as a member of an investigating committee travelled 40 thousand miles by air and boat, and is an ardent advocate of National defense.

Perhaps McGrath is one of the best informed men today regarding the national defense requirements of the U. S. A., and he is daily stressing the immediate necessity for preparedness.

(Signed) Committee For John J. McGrath.

Jack of All Trades

Darius L. Martin, who died at Deer Island, N. B., at the age of 91, was a jack of all trades and master of each. His diversified work included undertaking, casket-making, carpentry, cabinet-making, painting, veterinary surgery and farming. He was also a justice of the peace.

Impulses Influence Life

It is much easier to act firmly and bravely under a strong impulse than it is to restrain an impulse when called upon to do so. Of all the battles of life there is not one that requires so much real courage as that silent battle with self, which every dutiful person finds it frequently necessary to wage.

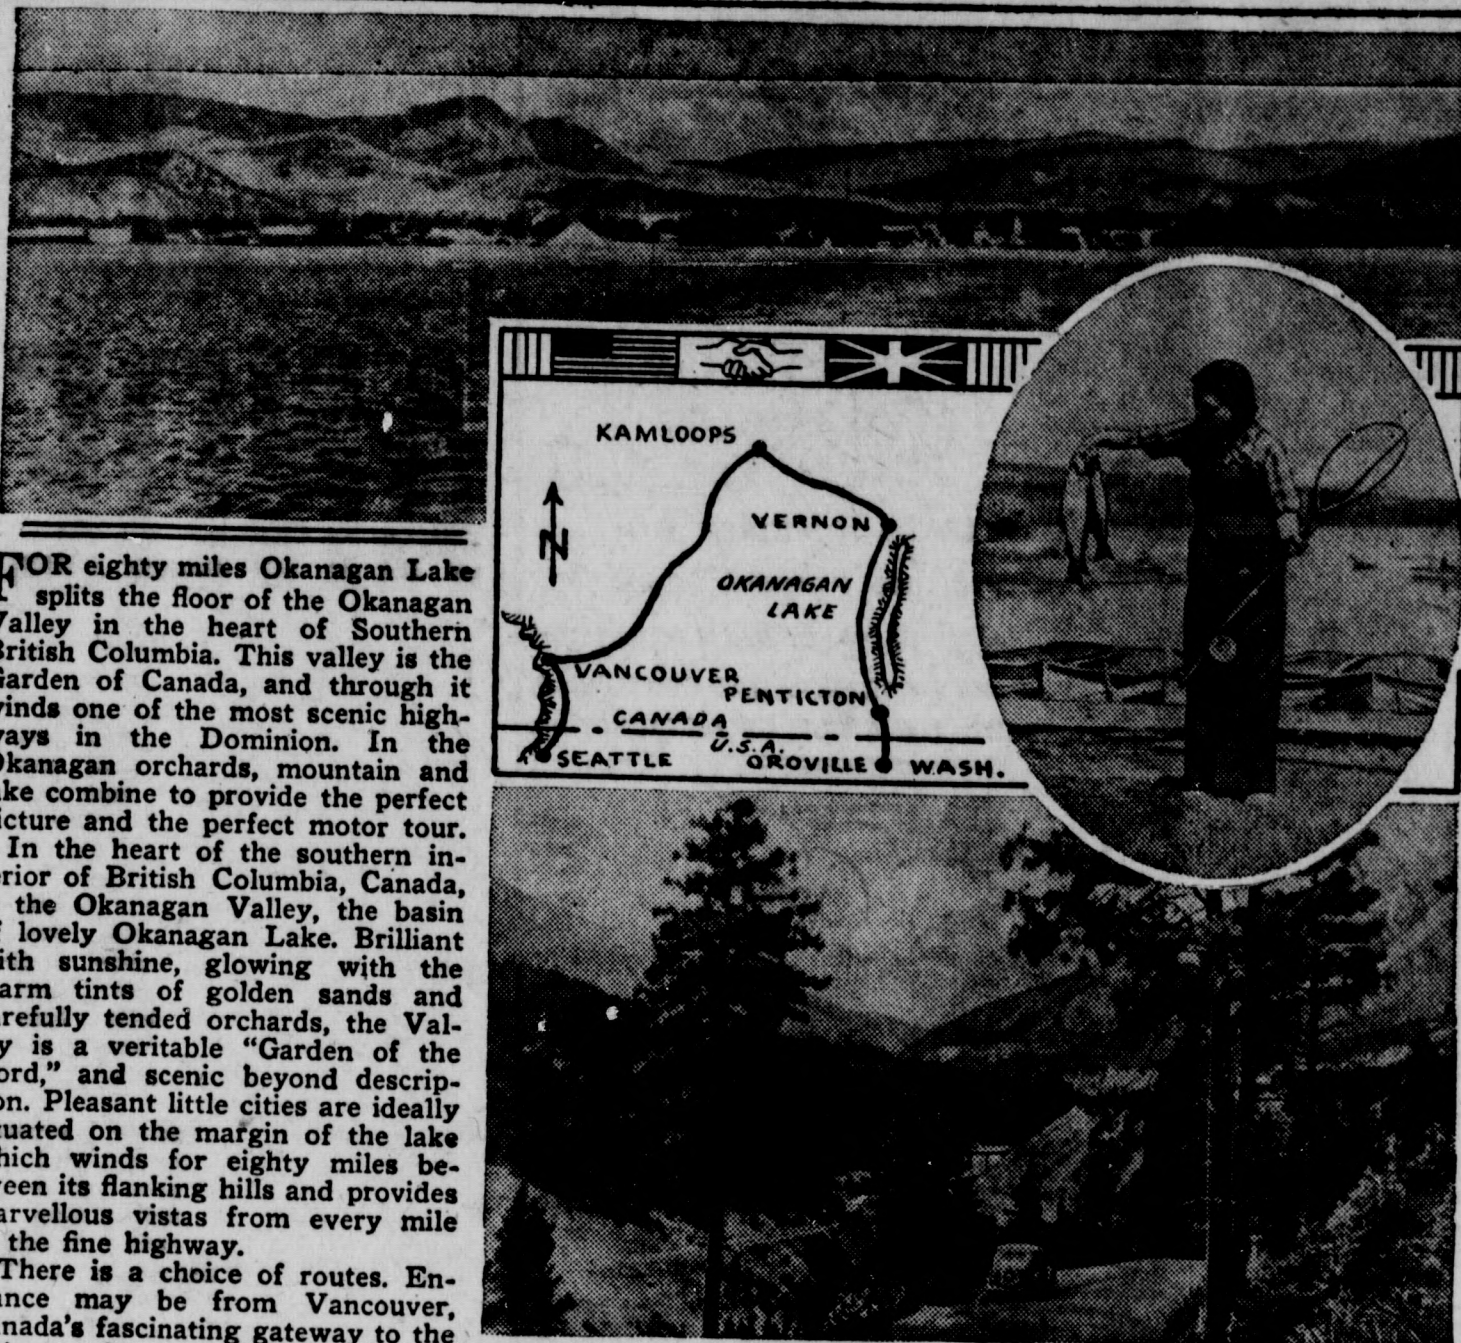

Frog Business

Frogs give every indication of eventually becoming "big business" in the West. One company capitalized at $200,000 has filed articles of incorporation for the opening of 20 frog ranches near Modesto, Calif.

Wrestler to Africa

Wrestler "Whiskers" Blake, six feet seven inches, thin and wiry, known to Canadian mat fans, arrived in Africa for 14 days, but has stayed there three years because he likes it.

Okanagan Valley Is Garden of Canada

FOR eighty miles Okanagan Lake splits the floor of the Okanagan Valley in the heart of Southern British Columbia. This valley is the Garden of Canada, and through it winds one of the most scenic highways in the Dominion. In the Okanagan orchards, mountain and lake combine to provide the perfect picture and the perfect motor tour. In the heart of the southern interior of British Columbia, Canada, is the Okanagan Valley, the basin of lovely Okanagan Lake. Brilliant with sunshine, glowing with the warm tints of golden sands and carefully tended orchards, the Valley is a veritable "Garden of the Lord," and scenic beyond description. Pleasant little cities are ideally situated on the margin of the lake which winds for eighty miles between its flanking hills and provides marvellous vistas from every mile of the fine highway.

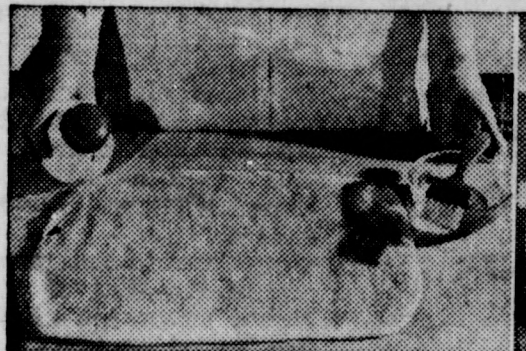

There is a choice of routes. Entrance may be from Vancouver, Canada's fascinating gateway to the Orient, through the spectacular gorge of the Fraser Canyon to Kamloops and Salmon Arm with its entrancing views of Shuswap Lake; or through Oroville, Washington, to the International Boundary, and thence to Penticton at the foot of Okanagan Lake. The country is well populated and good accommodation throughout the area is plentiful. The fact of Canada's being at war imposes positively no restrictions on travel from the United States, and visitors pass in and out as freely as ever.

If the political arguments become too, too heated, why not serve a tasty lunch—it always restores good humor.

Cinnamon Rolls for Breakfast Made with Fast Granular Yeast

Ask what is more appetizing for breakfast than fresh baked rolls, and many a homemaker will tell you—fresh baked cinnamon rolls. Serve them once and the family won't let you forget them. You can bake them the day before and whisk them into the oven in the morning for a quick warming through. It takes no more time than toast.

Turn dough onto floured board. Roll into a sheet ¼ inch thick and about 24 inches wide. Brush with butter and sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon.

Roll up as for a jelly roll, pressing last edge down firmly.

Cut into one-inch slices and place them, cut side down, in greased pan. Brush tops with butter. Let rise until doubled.

Sprinkle with sugar mixed with cinnamon, bake about 25 minutes in moderately hot oven, 375° F.
